

Licensing Policy:

The journal is committed in making it easier for people to share and build upon the work of others while maintaining consistency with the rules of licencing.

In order to use the Open Access paradigm to the maximum extent in true terms as free of charge online access along with usage right, we grant usage rights through the use of specific Creative Commons license.

With this license, the authors are allowed that after publishing with the journal, they can share their research by posting a free draft copy of their article to any repository or website.

The authors' publications in International journal of Basic and Applied Physiology are distributed under Creative Commons Attribution (CC BY NC 4.0) license (<https://creativecommons.org/licenses/by-nc/4.0/>). The license was developed to facilitate open access, namely, free immediate access to and unrestricted reuse of original works of all types.

Here we can

- Share — copy and redistribute the material in any medium or format
- Adapt — remix, transform, and build upon the material

The licensor cannot revoke these freedoms as long as we follow the license terms.

Under the following terms:

- Attribution — We give appropriate credit, provide a link to the license, and indicate if changes were made. We may do so in any reasonable manner, but not in any way that suggests the licensor endorses us or our use.
- Non Commercial — We may not use the material for commercial purposes.
- No additional restrictions — We may not apply legal terms or technological measures that legally restrict others from doing anything the license permits.